Dear Jim:

I am happy to notify you that your dissertation has won the Goodman-Malamuth Dissertation Award from AAUA. Congratulations to you and your director on this achievement. I'll be in touch shortly with further details about the award. You can make plans to attend the AAUA conference June 26 to 28 in Salt Lake City at the Hilton. Details can be found on the web at www.aaua.org

There is no charge for you to register for the event. If you bring any guests, we'll charge them for just the lunch. The awards session is Friday June 27, starting with lunch at noon and followed by PowerPoint presentations by the winners of several awards. You should plan on a 15 to 20 minute presentation, followed by Q and A. Please bring your show on a thumb drive, sometimes called a memory stick. Expect about 50 to 60 people at the session if you also want to bring a handout.

I'd like a very short biography and suggestions on how the plaque should read. Normally this is a Logo, the name of the award, the award winner's name, the title of the dissertation and the date/place of the award.

Congratulations again. I look forward to hearing from you.
